IN KENTUCKY

Troops Come to Aid of Democratic Governor Beckham,

They are in Possession of the County Courthouse and Jail at Frankfort, the State Capitol — No Clash With Taylor's Troops.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Frankfort, Ky., March 22.—State troops recognizing Democratic Governor Beckham are in possession of the county courthouse and jail to-night, and will do military duty here under orders from Governor Beckham during the examining trials of Republican Secretary of State Caleb Powers, Captain John W. Davis and W. H. Culton, which are set for hearing before Judge Moore to-morrow. The military is also reinforced by seventy-five deputy sheriffs, sworn in by the civil authorities this afternoon. The Lexington company of seventy men under Captain Longmire arrived here at 6:15 o'clock. In proceeding to the courthouse the line of march did not pass the State House square, where Governor Taylor's soldiers are quartered, and the dual militia did not come face to face. Longmire marched at the head of his company, carrying a revolver, while each of the men carried two guns. It is understood practically the entire contents of the Lexington armory were brought here.

The indications to-night are that the trial of some of the defendants will be entered upon to-morrow. The Commonwealth will demand that the defendants be arraigned separately.

County Judge Moore to-day issued an order to Sheriff Suter directing him to exclude everybody from the courthouse to-morrow, except attorneys, witnesses and members of the press.

There has been no confirmation here of rumors that armed bodies of citizens from the mountain section are coming to Frankfort and the rumor is not generally credited.

AN ADDRESS.

Frankfort, Ky., March 22.—Democratic Governor Beckham issued an address to-night relative to his calling out the troops. Among other things, he says it is his chief desire and intention always to rely more upon the law than upon the bayonet, but the Franklin county authorities having shown him a threatened condition of lawlessness with which they are unable to deal, he has in compliance with their call for assistance ordered here certain State troops to be completely under the authority of the sheriff to protect the court from threatened intimidation as well as the prisoners, seeing that justice is done all parties. He announces his regret that any should seek to interfere with the judicial tribunals. He says:

"When the situation is such in your capital city that the judges in your courts and other officials need personal protection from bodily harm and threatened interference with their section, then I deem it my duty as governor of the Commonwealth to give them protection they may need. Such is the situation here now, and I intend, so far as I have the power to protect the courts, in my earnest efforts to uphold the law, and to protect the constituted tribunals, I call upon the good and law-abiding people of our Commonwealth to act and assist me not by physical force, but by moral support.

We have placed our cause in the hands of the law and we must continue to rely upon the law. Let no act of violence or lawlessness be committed anywhere, and let our people who have shown such patience and conservatism heretofore continue to show it. My great trust and reliance is in the strong common sense and integrity of the people of our State, and trusting in that, I believe that out of our present difficulty there will soon come peace, order and restoration of the law.

(Signed) J. W. BECKHAM, Governor of Kentucky.

A Polo Tournament.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Aiken, S. C., March 22.—Opening of the polo tournament took place here to-day between the Camden, S. C., and Lakewood, N. J., teams, and resulted in a victory for Lakewood by a score of 11 to 0. Players were for Lakewood: George J. Gould, Larry Waterbury, Collier and Herbert. For Camden: Brown, Whistler, Barstow and Kennedy. Camden played well, but was overpowered. Waterbury's playing was the feature of the game, he making seven of the eleven goals made by Lakewood.

The finals for the Aiken cup to be played Saturday.

PORTO RICAN RELIEF BILL

provision should cover future collections, as well as those accruing up to January 1st.

The appropriation bill, he said, should be definite in terms, and especially was it believed by Mr. Bacon that it was the purpose of the bill to provide for the contingency that the tariff bill now pending may fail. In that event the revenue arrangement would continue. That, he thought, was a legitimate conclusion.

OUTCRY AGAINST BILL.

Mr. Bacon then launched upon a general argument against the Republican policy with reference to the trade between the United States and the islands acquired in the war with Spain. No such outcry had recently been witnessed as that which had gone up from all over the country after the passage of the House bill, which was intended to oppress an unprotected people. Naturally the Republican leaders had sought to find a protecting shelter from this storm, and this bill was intended as a peace offering to appease the indignation of the people. Not only had there been trouble in the country at large, but in the Senate as well, and as a consequence the Senate, for the first time in its history, had a new committee appointed by the Republican caucus of the Senate to preserve peace among its members.

ENFORCING THE DINGLEY LAW.

Mr. Bacon also dwelt upon the insistence of the House upon the language continuing the collection and return of the revenue "under existing law." Thus instead of having free trade with Porto Rico or a reduction to 15 per cent., as promised, we are, he asserted, to continue the present relation, enforcing the full rate of the Dingley law. To adopt this conference report meant the leaving of the tariff standing, and Senators who professed to be in favor of free trade could not afford to shut their eyes to this fact. If then Congress should adjourn without passing another law those who should vote for the conference report would be responsible for leaving this great burden upon a people for whom there was so much expressed commiseration.

The House could have accepted the Senate amendments, and he insisted that there could have been no such thing but for the intelligent direction of the bill by interests, which were advocating a tariff on the exchange of our commerce with Porto Rico. Not only did Mr. Bacon want free trade with Porto Rico, but he wanted it quickly. The great need of the Porto Ricans was to have such legislation as would put them in a position to help themselves, and this could not be done by the course at present proposed. The talk of charity and humanitarianism was derided by him as mere pretense. He also contended that the money to be returned would not go to the people from whom it had been collected.

Mr. Bacon urged that Porto Rico was entitled to a free territorial government with all its privileges.

FOR AND AGAINST.

Mr. Cockrell, of Missouri, and Mr. Sullivan, of Mississippi, also opposed the conference report. Mr. Allison defended the report, arraigned the Democrats for their delaying tactics, and incidentally predicted there would be a deficit under any revenue system that might be devised for Porto Rico.

Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, criticized the Republican party. The appropriation was a makeshift to permit that party to escape from an awkward dilemma. The general bill, he predicted, would be allowed to drift until the temper of the people could be ascertained and a way out of the difficulty discovered. Referring particularly to Mr. Beveridge's indefinite postponement of his speech, he spoke of the wonderful organized system which controlled the movements of the Republican party. Mr. Allen challenged the Republican side of the Senate for a vote on the House bill fixing the fifteen per cent. tariff. Replying to an inquiry from Mr. Foraker, Mr. Allen said so far as he was concerned he was willing to vote to-day on the House bill. In the ensuing discussion the drift of sentiment seemed toward fixing an hour to-morrow for a vote. Mr. Proctor, of Vermont, however, objected to immediate action, and his proposition to vote a week hence was finally agreed to by Mr. Foraker. Mr. Allen, however, characterized this as a bluff of Mr. Foraker, whose "own party called him." The effort to fix a day for a vote was ended by Mr. Pettus calling for the regular order. An effort to have a vote to-day on accepting the conference report on the appropriation bill was stopped by an objection from Mr. Tillman, and the matter went over.

At 3:50 p. m. the Senate adjourned.

CAPE NOME GOLD.

CONCESSIONS TO DREDGE SAND HAVE BEEN ISSUED.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Secretary Root made a brief statement to the press at the War Department to-day in regard to the action of the department in granting license to prospectors to dredge the water front of Cape Nome, Alaska, in their search for gold. He admitted that two concessions to dredge sand had been issued and twenty other applications are pending. He says they will all be granted. He says no exclusive privileges have been granted and there has been no discrimination. His authority was based upon the statutes giving the War Department jurisdiction over the navigable waters of the United States. It was shown, he says, that the proposed dredging of sand would not interfere with navigation or the riparian rights of owners of adjacent territory. The particular character of the sand to be dredged did not enter into the consideration of the case at all.

The Secretary said further that any one was privileged to dig for gold in the open sea, and the only question considered by the War Department was whether each operations conducted within the three mile limit were an interference with navigation or an infringement on the rights of others. When these conditions were complied with the department was prepared to grant permission to any one to dig in the beach at Cape Nome or elsewhere at any point lying within three miles of low water mark. Secretary Root made it clear that the privileges in question were free to all responsible persons. He will shortly submit his reply to the resolution of inquiry adopted by the Senate.

Brutes in Human Form.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Wadesboro, N. C., March 22.—Intelligence has just reached here of a most horrible crime committed in the adjoining county of Chesterfield, S. C., a few days ago. Cassie Boone, a young woman of bad repute, was enticed from her home by four men, carried to the woods nearby, assaulted with knives and her flesh almost carved from her bones.

After having satisfied themselves with this treatment the four brutes saturated her clothing with oil and set it afire. Her screams brought assistance, and the flames were extinguished. She was carried to her home, where she lingered a few hours and died.

It is alleged that this young woman had married a man by the name of Steen, but still retained her maiden name. It is said that her husband instigated this foul deed and led the assault upon her.

THE APPLETON FAILURE

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR GREAT PUBLISHING HOUSE.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

New York, March 22.—In the Supreme Court to-day J. Hampton Dougherty was appointed receiver of D. Appleton and Company, publishers of this city, on the application of Daniel Pritchard, of New Jersey, a stockholder. The bond of the receiver was fixed at $150,000. The liabilities are about $1,100,000. A statement issued to-day by the Appleton company says the situation is due mainly to inadequate capital to meet maturities in the extension of our business on the installment contract basis (which contracts amount to fully $200,000, now outstanding and in due course collectable).

A re-organization committee has been formed, and its chairman, Mr. Cannon, says he is confident the concern can be liquidated so as to involve no loss to creditors. The Appletons are one of the oldest and largest publishing firms in the country.

Miles Booked for Cuba.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Savannah, Ga., March 22.—General Nelson A. Miles and party, including Mrs. Miles, Captain Whitney, the General's aide, and Mr. and Mrs. Wiborg, of Cincinnati, left the city this morning for Florida. They will stop at St. Augustine, from whence they will go to Key West. At both places the general will inspect the fortifications. The new Fort Screven, on Tybee Island was inspected by the general yesterday.

After visiting the Florida forts General Miles will sail for Cuba. He declined to say how long he would be there or why he was going.

— St. Augustine, Fla., March 22.—Major General Nelson A. Miles and party arrived here this morning and spent several hours viewing the city and inspecting the military post. They left at 1 o'clock for the south.
